Choosing your wedding photographer is a big decision. I understand this and pride myself on offering a very friendly, personal and professional service of superior quality. As a professional Lake District wedding photographer my passion is to capture beautiful, imaginative images that reflect your wedding day and you as a couple, these will be photographs you will cherish for the rest of your life together.

Often months (sometimes years) of planning and hard work has gone into your wedding day and on that day all you should do is take your time to relax, enjoy and experience what will come to be one of the most important and memorable days of your life. Long after your dress is back in its box and stored away you will have the images from your special day to remember and share with loved ones for generations to come.

Hello, my name is Jon Titmas. I have been involved in photography for more than 30 years, winning several competitions with my work.

My style is a mixture of candid images interspersed with the odd traditional moment, to capture those spontaneous moments and emotions, creative, stylish portraits, a sprinkling of tradition and bucketloads of passion and fun. I remain unobtrusive, so it's always a wonderful surprise for couples to see the moments they didn't even know had been photographed.

I always make sure I meet my brides and grooms before their wedding day to understand exactly what it is they're looking for and discuss their ideas. I see this as a very important time, as I believe that the Bride, Groom and photographer must work as a team to be able to create a memorable record of their special day.

If they wish, the Bride and Groom can help in the design of their album, choosing the order of the pictures, down to the background of each page.

Engagement photos are a great way to mark the start of your wedding planning journey. Our Engagement shoots really capture the excitement of this new stage of your life and tell a story about who you are as a couple – at your happiest.

If you've also booked me as your wedding photographer, a pre-wedding shoot is a really special way for us to get to know each other. It's so important to trust your photographer completely, and a couples' session is the perfect way to build that trust as we can spend some real time together in a more relaxed setting.

If you're a bit nervous in front of the camera, the engagement shoot also gives you an opportunity to learn how to pose in a natural way, showing off your best features without looking staged. By the time your wedding comes around you'll be confident that you know how to look your best without too much direction.

Engagement Photography: £150 (for up to half a days photography at a suitable location) for a 16"x20" Framed print, and there are various picture package options also available.
